Brief Project Description	TROUT MUSEUM OF ART Volunteers are needed to catalog the pieces of art we receive from the students. They will work in teams of two people and operate a camera and bar code scanner. All of this equipment has been automated so the process is easy and consists of placing the art under the camera, pushing a button to activate the camera and scanning a bar code attached to the art. Training will be provided on site. Volunteers can be high school students or adults. Individuals interested in volunteering should call the museum directly to sign up for time slots. Call 920-733-4089. Volunteers can volunteer individually or in teams of two if they would like to do this with a friend, co-worker or family member. Below is information about the project and exhibit. Exhibit Dates: May 1–June 30, 2011 “The Appleton Compassion Project” is a mosaic-style art project involving 10,436 Appleton Area School District K-12 art students. In Fall 2010, participating students received a 6-inch-by-6-inch art panel to draw or paint their idea of compassion.
